3. In late July, FANG I (2455/3015), a former deputy chairman of Fukien Province, was transferred to Shanghai to serve as the deputy mayor.

4. On 24 August the 14 Political Liaison Station¹⁰ was near the seacoast village of Shihping (4258/2671), one-third of a mile east of Chiuchen (117-40, 24-05), in a two-story Chinese-style structure, the tallest building in the village. The station operated under the cover of a production section and was connected by telephone with Chinchiang (118-34, 24-54) and Amoy. Ten men worked at the station. The head of the station was CH'EN (7115), a military staff officer in plain clothes. He is short and dark-skinned, has a small scar over his right eye, is about 25 years old, and speaks Fukienese.

5. In late July the public security department¹¹ was in the former Salt Administration Bureau building at Kuanglufang (0342/4389/0972) in Foochow, but plans were under way to move the department to four large new buildings at Yuehhou-hsiang (2588/1775/6763), outside the East Gate of Foochow.

6. In late July the Social Department of the Fukien Public Security Department was at 26 Wenjufang (2429/0320/0972), Foochow, and was headed by CHENG Ts'ung-cheng (6774/1783/2398).

7. In late July LIANG Kui-pin (2733/0948/2430),¹² head of the public security department of the East China Military Area, was transferred from this position and replaced by YEH Sung (5509/2646), director of the Fukien Border Defense and Garrison Bureau, which has been placed under the command of the public security department of the East China Military Area.
8. In late July the Foochow Public Security Bureau was in the former Kuomintang headquarters on Huk'ou (5706/0656) Street and was headed by HSIEH Pai-ch'iu (6200/4101/4428), who was also the head of the Foochow Police Department. HSU Chen-p'ing (6079/2182/1627), the former head of the Foochow Public Security Bureau, had been transferred to Peiping for training.
9. In early August a sea defense committee was established at Huian (118-48, 25-02) to direct all coastal defense activities for Huian Hsien.
10. In early August the Sea Defense Battalion of Huian Hsien was organized and was being trained by the Huian Hsien government. The battalion headquarters was at Ch'ienankung (1467/1344/1362).¹³ Two hundred men of this battalion were stationed at Ch'ienankung and Ch'ungwu (118-54, 24-53).
11. In early August 1952 the Communists began the collection of real estate taxes in Huian (118-48, 25-02) Hsien. The base tax rate was JMP 3,000 for a four-room house or a smaller one and JMP 1,000 for each additional room over four.

1. Comment. According to available information, LIANG Ling-kuang was the mayor of Amoy.
2. Comment. These are presumably representatives of the Central Government.
3. Comment. According to September 1950, HUANG Lu-p'ing was a member of the Democratic League.
4. Comment. According to December 1950, WANG Ya-nan was deputy chairman of a committee in Amoy engaged in recruiting young men for military technical training.
5. Comment. The Fukien Highway Bureau is probably subordinate to the Fukien Transportation Department.
6. Comment. According to information available to this office in March 1952, HU Ch'ien-kang, director of the revenue administration in Foochow, was charged with corruption under the three-antis movement. The revenue administration is probably identical with the Fukien Revenue Bureau referred to in this report.
7. Comment. According to September 1950, LI Shu-chung was a non-Communist leader of the Peasants and Workers Democratic Party in Fukien. The Fukien Agriculture and Labor Democratic Party is probably the Peasants and Workers Democratic Party. The latter name is the more nearly standard translation.
8. Comment. According to August 1952, HUANG Huo-hsing was the advocate general of the 10 Army Group.
9. Comment. According to January 1952, SUNG Ch'iu-ch'eng was the magistrate of this hsien.
10. Comment. According to August 1952, the 14 Liaison Station is part of the Intelligence Department of the 31 Army.
